

- 10 -

ABSTRACT

09/283, 210

An electrical appliance, in order to dissipate the heat appertaining to the power loss in its housing, has a mat (3) between the circuit board which supports the electronic components and the adjoining wall part.

09/283, 210